CLINIC WITHOUT BORDERS
12th International Journal of Clinical Legal Education Conference

in association with 2nd European Network for Clinical Legal Education Conference

Palacký University, Olomouc 15-17 July 2014
Optional additional session in Prague 18 July 2014
Clinic Without Borders

12th International Journal of Clinical Legal Education Conference

In Association with
2nd European Network for Clinical Legal Education Conference

Introduction

These conferences serve as a unique forum in which clinical educators from many jurisdictions come together to discuss all aspects of clinical teaching and learning, to learn from one another and to share best practice. Further information is available at www.ijcle.com.

The conference will bring together academics, lawyers, students and social activists with an exciting mix of keynote speech, panel discussion, formal presentation and interactive workshop sessions. There will be lots of opportunity for participation, collaboration and dialogue.

The European Network for Clinical Legal Education (ENCLE) is a European-wide association established in 2013 with the main goal to promote clinical legal education in Europe. In order to achieve this goal, ENCLE supports exchange of information and networking, organises conferences, workshops and training sessions, raises funds to further promote clinics and communicates and cooperates with other entities in order to support the idea of clinical legal education in Europe. The first ENCLE conference was held on Warsaw in 2013, but it is symbolic that the second conference will be held in Olomouc at the very heart of ENCLE. The significance of this latest development in the area of clinical legal education in Europe will be reflected in a special European stream within the conference.

The conference will be held at the Faculty of Law of Palacký University in Olomouc with the option of an additional session in Prague on 18th July 2014.
Clinic Without Borders. The clinical legal education movement continues to push pedagogical, geographical, jurisdictional and discipline boundaries. This conference will provide an opportunity for us to explore these new frontiers.

This year’s particular conference streams:
• Clinic within the wider law curriculum
• Multi-disciplinary clinics
• Virtual clinics
• The growth of clinic in Europe
• Growing clinic around the globe
• Clinics across borders – students working together around the globe
• Meeting of the UK Clinical Legal Education Organisation

PAPERS INVOLVING WORKSHOPS AND OTHER INTERACTIVE SESSIONS ARE PARTICULARLY WELCOME.

Papers are also welcome in relation to standing conference themes:
• Meeting of the UK Clinical Legal Education Organisation
• Internationalising clinical legal education
• Trends in international clinical legal education
• Clinic twinning projects
• Supervision
• Clinical scholarship
• Reporting research findings (final or interim)
• Assessment /grading of clinical legal education – in particular: how do rubrics and other techniques help in the grading/evaluation process?
• Evidencing best practice
• New clinics and new clinicians
• Review of clinic operations
• Student and faculty attitudes to clinical learning

This year at the conference we are introducing a new format: a roundtable session. In this hour-long session, special interest groups convened by an expert will discuss key issues and set priorities for research, writing and further development. Groups will have a maximum of seven participants including the convenor and there will be opportunities to sign up for groups during the conference. Proposed groups for 2014 include:
• Setting up clinic: jurisdictional and practical considerations
• Clinic within the wider law curriculum
• Multi-disciplinary clinics
• Virtual clinics
• Clinics across borders
• What does pro bono work mean?
• Pedagogy for clinic – promoting student autonomy in balance with the needs of the client

If you would like to suggest a group, offer to convene a group or make suggestions about this new format, please get in touch.

Call for Papers/Submission of Proposals

The call for papers is now open. To submit a proposal for a conference session, click on the Submit a Proposal page of the conference website www.ijcle.com. Proposals should be submitted by April 30th 2014. Proposals should be emailed to: maureen.cooke@northumbria.ac.uk

All proposals will be considered by a conference planning group and submission of a proposal does not guarantee that it will be accepted. Consideration of papers will begin prior to the deadline so early proposals may receive a decision and confirmation of participation more quickly.

A full programme will be made available at a later date.
Keynote Speakers

Neil Gold has been a law professor since 1973 in Windsor, Ontario, Victoria and Vancouver, BC and Hong Kong. He has served as a department head, dean, university vice-president and provost. He was the founding director of both Legal Assistance of Windsor and the Law Centre, city centre based student, lawyer, and multidisciplinary staffed community legal clinics operated by the universities of Windsor and Victoria respectively. Neil was the first director of each of the Canadian Law Teaching Clinic, the Learning and Teaching Centre at the University of Victoria and the Advocates’ Society Institute in Toronto. He led the establishment of the Professional Legal Training Program in British Columbia and the problem-based skills oriented PCLL in Hong Kong. Neil has researched, written and consulted on legal education, and professional development in Asia, Africa, Australasia, South America, the UK, and the USA over the past thirty years. In recognition of his many contributions to legal education, the Law Society of Upper Canada, the governing body of the Ontario legal profession, awarded him its highest honour, the Law Society Medal.

Kevin Kerrigan is the Executive Dean for the Faculty of Business and Law. He was formerly Dean of the School of Law and previously Associate Dean for Undergraduate and Clinical Programmes. A National Teaching Fellow of the Higher Education Academy since 2010, he is also a practising solicitor and Human Rights Act consultant with experience of conducting criminal and human rights cases in courts at all levels. His teaching and research interests are in the fields of criminal litigation, human rights and legal education. He is the former editor of the International Journal of Clinical Legal Education. He has written numerous articles and text books and delivered papers at conferences in Europe, North America, Africa, Asia and Australia.

James E. Moliterno is the Vincent Bradford Professor of Law at Washington and Lee University School of Law. He has a leadership role in W&L’s third year curriculum reform. For 21 years prior to joining the W&L faculty in 2009, he was the Tazewell Taylor Professor of Law, Director of the Legal Skills Program, and Director of Clinical Programs at the College of William & Mary, serving also as Vice Dean from 1997-2000. The William & Mary Legal Skills Program, under his direction, was recognized as a model for the teaching of professional skills and ethics, receiving the inaugural ABA Gambrell Professionalism Award in 1991. He was the 2012 recipient of the Rebuilding Justice Award from the Institute for the Advancement of the American Legal System (IAALS) in recognition of his career-long legal education reform work. He has taught legal ethics courses and professional skills courses at six law schools over the past thirty years. He is author or co-author of ten books including THE AMERICAN LEGAL PROFESSION IN CRISIS: RESISTANCE AND RESPONSES TO CHANGE (Oxford Univ. Press 2013) and of numerous articles on legal ethics and legal education. He has engaged in substantial international legal ethics and legal education reform work in Serbia, Armenia, Georgia, Czech Republic, Kosovo, Slovakia, Spain, Japan, China, Indonesia and Thailand.

Sightseeing & Social Events

Olomouc City
The ancient town of Olomouc lies in the heart of the so-called Haná region. Its history dates back to the 10th century AD when it became an important trade crossing-point. It has the second most significant collection of historical monuments in the country after Prague. The second oldest university in the Czech lands was founded in Olomouc in the year 1573. Olomouc was considered the capital of Moravia from the Luxembourian period up until the 17th century. During the Thirty Years War with the town’s occupation by the Swedish army, the town was destroyed to a large extent and lost its leading position. Today, the city has a population of over 100,000 inhabitants. It is the fifth largest city in the Czech Republic and the seat of the Olomouc Region.

Conference Dinner - Archbishop’s Palace
The Archbishop’s Palace belongs to many valuable historical sights the City of Olomouc can offer to its visitors. Throughout the history many significant events took place in the Archbishop’s Palace. Among them the most important are visit of Empress Maria Theresa, enthronization of Emperor Franz Joseph I, signing of a peace treaty called “Agreement of Olmütz”, and more recently the visit of Pope John Paul II. Since it was built, the Archbishop’s Palace has always been a residence of bishops and since 1777 archbishops of Olomouc.

The bishop’s residence has undergone several reconstructions realized by leading European architects and painters. The last major reconstruction of the Palace was implemented after a fire in 1904 under the Archbishop Francis Bauer. Many prominent personalities visited the Palace; including Franz Joseph I, who ascended the Imperial throne here in 1848.

Guided Tour of Olomouc – UNESCO Heritage

Since 2000 the Holy Trinity Column has been inscribed on the UNESCO World Heritage List. The Holy Trinity Column in Olomouc dominates the city centre and its grandiosity easily takes a visitor’s breath away. It is the largest group of Baroque statues within a single sculptural monument in Central Europe. The column reaches a height of 35 metres and its lower part houses a seasonally accessible chapel.

Town hall with horologe dominates the Upper Square. For more than six centuries it was a symbol of economic and political importance of the former royal capital of Moravia. Today it is the most important monument of non-religious architecture in Olomouc and, besides the Archbishop’s Palace and six ancient churches, it is the only monument with public or representative function still serving its original purpose today, accommodating the headquarters of the elected city government and its office. The construction of the Olomouc Town Hall with a mercantile house was allowed by a privilege from the Moravian Margrave Jost of Luxembourg in 1378.

Svatý Kopeček (The Holy Hill)

is a popular excursion and pilgrimage site in the region and is situated in the foothills of the Hrubý Jeseník mountain range at an altitude of 382 metres above sea level, a mere eight kilometres from the centre of the City of Olomouc. Its location, varied terrain and lovely forest plant life along with its valley streams and rivers amount to ideal conditions for sports and recreation. The area is also criss-crossed by an abundance of trails for both hiking and cycling. The Church of the Visitation to the Virgin Mary makes up the most prominent feature of the locale offering up, weather permitting, a view all the way to Praděd peak. The local zoological gardens are spread out over approximately 42 hectares of land in the neighbouring mixed forests. Not far from the baroque church is a cross placed there in the year 1909 by the grandparents of the poet Jiří Wolker in order to express their joy on the birth of a grandson. The house where the poet lived and wrote the famous poem Svatý Kopeček in the year 1921 has been preserved.
